You Are Grounded In Truth, Love, And Perfection

Giving deep thought as to how great creation is through the perfection of our Creator God.

God created souls that are pure perfection, pure love, with all souls being in their own "individual self" spiritual body. Your own "look."

The only way that newly created spirits can function, is through the "likeness" of God being a spirit grounded in the Word. The Word being the basis of life and IS goodness-love-truth-wisdom-knowledge, because that IS God.
That IS who you are and all of God's created souls. All souls are on that equal and loving ground. God created this equality and how he sees his created souls, and God states this never changes, it is absolute and eternal.

The newly created spirit that is in it's "own" individual spiritual body now has to live lives that have that "foundation" (the Word), in which communication is by way of the sub-consciousnesses perfect foundation.
Ask yourself, how is it that a flesh soul has the "instincts" to be drawn to the basis of that love, wanting communion and love with other souls if it has no foundation?
Then due to the freewill of the flesh existence, able to live from any perspective, is drawn to wanting love-goodness-truth-wisdom being the end result or ongoing life's principles? How can that be without that foundation the soul was created in and without corruption?

Absolutely nothing can come from the individual soul. How then can condemnation exist unless it only exists through one's own beliefs and miss-understandings? Maybe those miss-understandings are that souls truths…..for now.

Now this newly framed soul having the basis of existence, the Word, within the soul, or better said, IS the soul, is an established perfect spiritual self, moves through eternal life with the absolute freedom to choose how to live establishing the individuals own "being" through those life's experiences. Making each soul unique and complete which is the makeup of God's overall plan. His Plan is finished, only to be lived out in eternity.

The challenges presented through these eternal lives is what constitutes life itself. Life is not a condemnation to an undesirable end, (btw, end does not exist), but to learn, grow, experience, those challenges that help make the individual soul who he really is, and can take pride in overcoming the duality of the flesh self and the negativity or the opposition of love.

Judgement can not exist from another soul simply because of the uniqueness of all souls are following the same path of eternity. They are simply doing it from their own perspective, through their own experiences, in their own way, and in their own "eternal time."

The soul in its own "time" judges itself. The "right understanding" brings true freedom to the soul.
But how can another souls beliefs be judged without knowing that individuals heart?
Is there not only one God?
Faith and trust come from the right understanding.
All in good time.....
